FAR OUT, UPON THE DESERT
WHY DO WE WASTE LIFE
SALT STAYS IN THE OCEAN

—By Arthur Brisbane—(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HODGE, Cal., Nov. 25.—To stop worrying about superfluous things, and realize how little is necessary, come to this desert country, 2,300 feet above sea level, 70 miles back from the Pacific ocean. You will not "make money" in the usual meaning of the words and if you make a bare living, you will work hard for it. But you will have more of real life than anybody slaving in an ant hill city.

THE WIDE level desert stretches in every direction, with mountains of many colors on the horizon, a most beautiful sky and glorious sun above, not a cloud as big as your hand in the bright blue. The cow gives five gallons of rich milk, living on alfalfa, grown beside her, under irrigation. A good horse is ready to take you anywhere on your 4,000 or 5,000 acres of desert land, and 1,000,000 more acres adjoining.

TEN ACRES are enough and you can buy them from the government for $10 an acre, and less. You sit or the Southern Pacific railroad here, as isolated as Robinson Crusoe, with telephone, radio, newspapers from Los Angeles, telegraph office within reach, power of a little private, quiet world within a big noisy world. And you wonder why you ever played the fool's game in life, borrowing millions to erect tall buildings, etc., worrying about renting and paying for them, doing 10,000 things, unnecessary.

NEARLY all that we do is a waste of life. But we must live at least 50 years to know that, and then it is too late to change and live sanely. Your buildings are there, and your taxes, your lawyers, your corporations, and like Frost's farmer that yoked himself up with the bull calf, you must go along.

POPULATION on this coast must increase without ceasing, as salt increases in the ocean, almost twice as salty now, as when our ancestors lived in it hundreds of millions of years ago. Salt, once it gets in ocean cannot get out, for only pure water is lifted by the sun's rays. Human beings, when they get into this beautiful country perfect climate, and atmosphere of genuine democracy will not leave it.

THE MOST important news deals with vitamin D. That news will be important while time lasts. One of those deep Germans, Prof. Adolf Windaus of Berlin has isolated the vitamin, a thing never done before, and actually has a fragment of it, in pure crystal form. Taken in excess, it is a poison. In proper doses it is necessary to life and normal growth. Poor rickety children with twisted legs and spines lack vitamin D. Other vitamins control various functions of life.

DEPRIVE a rat for instance, of one vitamin, it will never have children. The future may solve important population problems, humanely, with the help of vitamin deprivation. For 1,000,000 years "inferior" populations have been killed off in wars, massacres, famines and plagues. Some proud

CHURCHES PLAN PROGRAMS FOR THANKSGIVING

Six Congregations Will Hold Three Services Here Tonight

SERMONS STRESS SEASON'S SPIRIT

Other Meetings Also Are Scheduled Tonight and Thursday Morning

The spirit of Thanksgiving will reign in Salem tonight as the city's churches gather in four special services calling together members of seven congregations. Thanksgiving services will be held in other churches early Thursday morning.

Gathering in three services at 7:30 tonight will be six congregations affiliated with the Salem Ministerial association. Two churches join in each service, replacing the single union gathering held in past years. Special Thanksgiving day programs are also scheduled at each of the city's public schools today.

Rev. C. B. Jones of Beaver Falls, Pa., will be the speaker at joint services of the Holy Trinity Lutheran and the First Baptist church at the Lutheran church. Rev. A. C. Westphal and Rev. G. D. Keister will be in charge.

Plan Special Music

Rev. Jones will speak on the subject, "The Storm on the Sea." Choirs of the two churches will sing, with Homer Taylor at the organ. Included in the musical program will be the selections, "Pillgrim's Chorus from Tannhauser," "Praise and Thanksgiving," and a solo, "Netherland Prayer of Thanksgiving" by Miss Ada Lottman.

President Herbert Hoover's Thanksgiving day proclamation will be read during the service.

Offerings at each of the joint gatherings will be contributed to the Salem chapter, American Red Cross.

Rev. Raymond D. Walter will speak on the subject, "Thanksgiving in This Day of Depression" at the meeting of the First Presbyterian congregation at the First Christian church. Rev. C. F. Evans will preside at the service which will include special selections, appropriate to the season, by the Christian church, directed by J. William Filson.

Mrs. Ruth E. Berry will accompany the choir at the organ.

Rev. Sidney A. Mayer will be the speaker at the service calling together congregations of the First Methodist and First Friends church, at the Friends church. Rev. C. F. Bailey is in charge of the program while choir of both churches will be featured in a program of songs.

Nazarene Services Tonight

The Church of the Nazarene will hold services at 7:30 tonight with

Rev. G. D. Keister Addresses Kiwanis

The depression and its influence in general was discussed by Rev. G. D. Keister, pastor of Holy Trinity Lutheran church, in a talk given at the Kiwanis club meeting today.

Speaking on the subject, "Thanksgiving and the Depression," Rev. Keister cited several distinct moral values of the depression.

"The depression," Rev. Keister said, "has displayed to all of us the real and true values of life. It has extended our sympathy to the 'other fellow' and the unfortunate; it has shown to us many things which we would have never otherwise been able to visualize."

W. W. Brown was in charge of the meeting.

Copeland Searches Back 38 Years In Vain Hunt for Weather's Equal

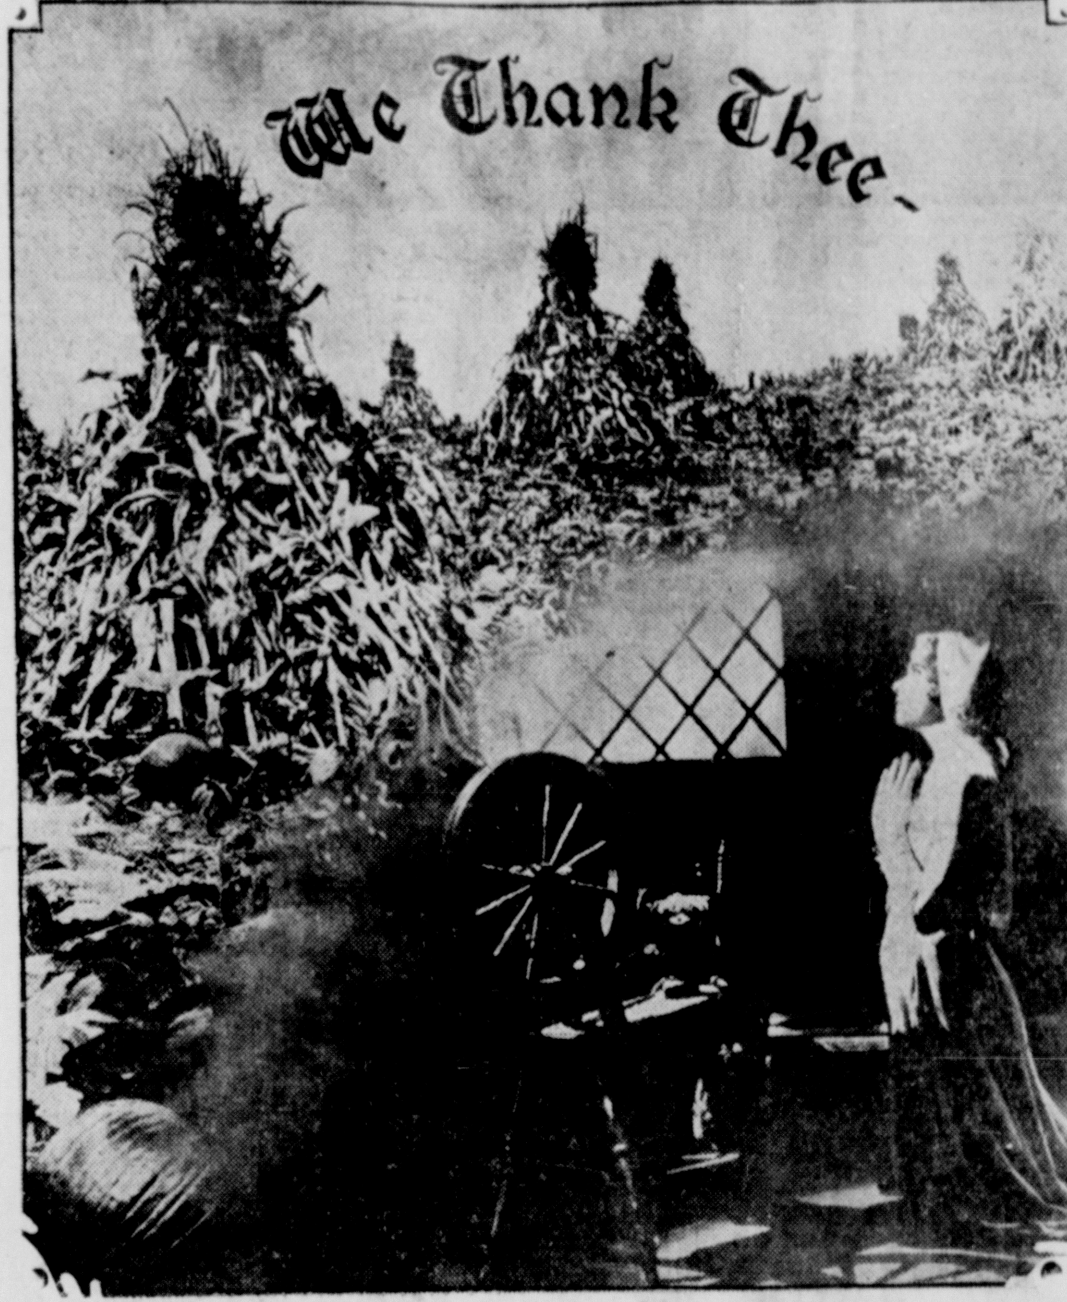

Can't Find Warmer November; All Over Now As Chills Hit City

Chilling winds and low temperatures, winter's chief emissaries, arrived in Salem today, warning city's residents of an impending cold spell that will mark the end of the warmest November weather record over a period of 38 years.

Lawrence H. Copeland, veteran meteorologist, has been studying revealing statistics that show the summery temperatures prevalent during the past 24 days as unprecedented. Average temperatures have been 10 degrees above normal and Copeland is forced to go back 22 years, to 1909, to find a November that is even close to the present month.

For the first 24 days of this month, Copeland says, the temperature has averaged 50 degrees while normal November temperatures are 40. In 1909, when there were several days during which the mercury climbed as high as 74, the temperature averaged 46.5 degrees.

FARMER ROBBED BY TWO BANDITS

George Groner Called To Door At His Home, Faces Gun

George Groner, a farmer living on the Lisbon-Columbiana rd., was held up and robbed by two armed bandits who ransacked his home and escaped with $27 in cash at 8:45 p. m. Tuesday.

Groner said that the bandits drove to his home, two of them walking to the house while a third remained in the automobile with the motor running. They inquired directions to a neighboring farm-house and as Groner began giving details, one of the men flashed a gun, forcing the farmer into the house.

Backed with his face against the wall, Groner was searched by the two men, who then ransacked the house.

Completing their search, the men are reported by Groner to have rushed into the automobile and were last seen driving towards Columbiana.

Deputies William Virden and George Hays were detailed to the investigation by Sheriff W. J. Barlow.

(By Associated Press)
On the eve of Thanksgiving, 20 Ohio cities have raised $7,401,667 in community fund campaigns to carry their destitute and needy through another year.

With few exceptions, drives in the last month have gone "over the top" despite the double handicap of hard times and the need for larger relief funds than ever before.

THRILLING GRID DUEL LOOMS AS OLD FOES CLASH

Quakers Face Alliance In Thanksgiving Battle At Stadium

RIVAL COACHES SEE HARD FIGHT

Result Is Expected To Break 14-14 Tie Between Schools

The curtain will be drawn on the thrills of interscholastic football here Thursday morning as Alliance High, for 35 years a gridiron foe of Salem High school, battles the Quaker City eleven at Reilly stadium in the final contest of the 1931 season for both teams.

It will be in the 33rd contest involving the two rivals since they started football relations back in late nineties. Each team has attained 14 victories, four games ended in ties, and tomorrow they will be striving to break the deadlock in triumph.

Game Starts at 9:30 a. m.

The game is expected to attract one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a gridiron duel in Salem. It will start at 9:30 a. m.

In expectations of this record-breaking attendance, a corps of Alliance patrolmen will assist Salem police and firemen in controlling the crowd at the stadium and regulation of traffic in the downtown district. Members of the Salem High faculty will act as ushers.

Where earlier in the week plenty of confidence and an assuring spirit of optimism prevailed among Salem coaches and players, Coach Floyd W. Stone today looked forward to the contest in a downcast and pessimistic frame of mind, predicting with great seriousness that "they may beat us by two touchdowns."

Over in Alliance Coach George Wilcoxen refused to make a prediction either way while he says that "fans will see one of the hardest fought battles of the year."

Stone, whose pessimism 24 hours before game time has become almost proverbial, says his team isn't in the best shape possible for the encounter and fears that the superior weight of the invading eleven will prove too great a handicap for his lads to overcome. He claims that one of his regular backs, Jack Carpenter, is suffering from injuries and at least two linemen haven't been able to exploit their best talents because of hurts sustained in practices.

Alliance Stars Back

Wilcoxen was enthused today because of possibilities that two of his star linemen, Peters, a center, and Ondrejask, tackle, who were

BALLOT BOARD DEMANDS PROBE

Irregularities Alleged In Calcutta Precinct On November 3

The Columbiana county election board today recommended that a grand jury investigation be called to probe alleged irregularities in the Calcutta precinct, near East Liverpool, during the St. Clair township election on Tuesday, November 3.

Prosecuting Attorney John E. Bauknecht was asked by J. S. Hilbert, election board chief, to call the jury session, after investigations conducted by the board in East Liverpool.

E. S. Foulk at first was declared winner of the election for township trustee in unofficial returns which showed him to have received 204 votes to 201 polled by Frank M. Fisher.

In a recount conducted by the board at Fisher's request, it was discovered that the latter was the victor, winning over Foulk's by an 87-vote margin. The official tabulation declared that Fisher polled 252 votes to 165 by Foulk.

Calls Off Drill

ABOARD S. S. EMPRESS OF RUSSIA, Nov. 25.—I went below decks to drill my Chinese army today, but I couldn't get 'em away from a fan tan game.

We call 'em heathen, eh? You play with 'em an see how heathen they are. They will have these missionaries' red underwear before they get to Shanghai.

Clara, this would have been no game for you, and speaking of movies, I see by this morning's paper that you can pretty near tell who is the highest-priced female screen star of each year by seeing who the Marquee de Cordray is married to.

Say, cable me who won the Texas election today, and tell me which one of my friends will be speaker, Tilson or Garner.

UNION LABEL

YOU CAN DRIVE THEM TO WATER—An important decision is being made by 88,500 Democrats who contributed to their party's campaign in 1928. Chairman John J.
Rankob, who emerges rarely but always importantly, has sent each contributor a questionnaire to "feel out" opinion on what stand the coming national convention should take relative to the prohibition issue. Seven questions answerable by "yes" or "no" will tell Mr. Rankob all he wants to know.It is an important fact that 44-612 of the contributors live in the five states of New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Illinois and New York. These states are centers of anti-prohibition opinion.
Seven southern states—Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina—have less than one-fourth as much voice in the party councils.
Their demand for a dry platform may be lost in the hubbub.The first question will be answered by a "yes," being general in application. The other six will cause many lead pencils to be chewed, no doubt.Number 2, for instance, asks if Democratic legislators should vote in favor of a resolution to submit the 18th amendment to the people.Number 3 asks if the party should declare in favor of requiring all future Constitutional amendments to be ratified by popular conventions.Number 4 asks for opinion on adopting the home rule plan for liquor control.Number 5 asks for opinion on straight repeal.Number 6 asks whether Democratic legislators should be instructed to vote for a resolution proposing modification or for a resolution proposing straight repeal.Number 7 puts the question straight from the shoulder: "Do you believe that other economic issues will be so overshadowing in the 1932 campaign that the Democratic platform can successfully ignore the prohibition question with its economic problems by remaining silent or by adopting a mere law enforcement plan as was done in the 1928 convention?"Democrats have been given a colossal responsibility by their national chairman. If he can command cooperation an important helping contribution to one of the most vexing national problems will be forthcoming. Perhaps he will be thinking to himself during the anxious in-between days that "you can't make him drink"—particularly, the southern beast of burden.

What Others Say

NEW LIGHT IN ZION CITY

Shocking news comes from Zion
City, near Chicago, where Wilbur Glenn Voliva rules the deadly flat capital of a flat earth. We may hear at any moment that the patriarch has abjured his faith by conceding that the world may be round, or at any rate half round like a section of breakfast grapefruit. The indications of a change of heart are unmistakable. Jack in the days of his predecessor, Alexander Dowie, the law of the community forbade driving of automobiles through the hallowed streets at a faster pace than a man's walk. If a stranger was caught smoking he was lugged off to the hogewash. If he used forcible language when taken to task for misdeeds of this character he was heavily fined to boot.But it seems that the prosperity of Zion City is dependent upon sales of figbars, candy and needlework to the unregenerate outside of Zion's walls. Peddlers of these commodities have had the doors of Chicago houses slammed in their faces by victims of Zionist ordinances; sales have declined, and the products of the community's industries have piled up on warehouse shelves. It is not strange, therefore, that Mr.
Voliva has had a new revelation.
The faithful are still to obey the old laws, but visitors from Philistia are to be given the glad hand; not to be disturbed in their heathenpractices. He has just ousted a conscientious chief of police who kept the jail filled with turbulent strangers, and the new appointee has been instructed to imitate Lord Nelson and turn a blind eye to infractions of traffic and sumptuary laws. He is even making use of radio broadcasts to invite the worldlings living in outer darkness to visit Zion City and inspect her amazing industries, hoping perhaps to rouse the Vanity Fair trading spirit in them. Thus Zion City follows the course of many another community of the kind which has attempted to set itself apart as a righteous example to a faithless and perverse generation. Soon or late the world and its worldlings are too much for it. It must compromise or disintegrate.
And so the day is probably not far distant when Mr. Voliva will allow that perhaps this earth is not shaped like a photograph record, but has three dimensions, even though it is plain to the unaided eye that the sun and moon are disks with no thickness whatever, even as they were when Joshua commanded them to stand still at Gibeon and Ajalon.—Boston Transcript.

astonishes me is the persistence of "Regulars." I see many faces I used to see at Bustanoby's, Rector's and Healy's in days of their opulence.
It is a crowd that sits in a studiously stilled indifference—not rounders in an alcoholic sense, but largely those in eternal quest of a thrill they rarely experience. For them all glimmer has been squeezed out of what was once considered a recidivist folly. With Buddha-like boredom they sip innocuous drinks, puff cigarettes, never laugh, and confident conversation to monosyllabic clicks. It has the ghostly monotony of the Death Watch.In the nocturnal haunts surviving the economic eclipse one feature is noticeable. Provocative maids no tlemen used to respond generously to such sales advances. But not any more.I was interested in fragments of a conversation drifting from a nearby table. A depressed gentleman was moaning his threnody about a collapsing world. "What is needed," he said, "is to abolish the whole business—get a new Adam and Eve, a garden, and start from scratch."Those whose birthday it is may expect a year in which the trend of events will depend greatly upon their own pose, self-restraint and wise management of circumstances.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ONPersistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected

Children and Late Hours

Mothers sometimes complain that it is difficult to get their children to bed early. In some instances it may be the fault of the mother who is too lenient. In other cases the children may be to blame.The importance of sufficient sleep and relaxation for children cannot be over-emphasized. Children who are permitted to remain
up until all hours of the night suffer startling set-backs.I fear that most parents do not realize the great danger that children are subjected to when they remain up late at night. In addition to the loss of necessary sleep, these children acquire bad habits.When children are permitted to keep irregular hours they soon complain that they cannot sleep.
If they are sent to bed early they do not sleep.Remember that sleep is a habit.
Once a habit has been established it is difficult to change. When a child has been taught to go to sleep at a certain hour, he has acquired a good habit. It will help to build up a foundation of good health.On the other hand, when a child has been permitted to stay up late at night, he soon finds it impossible to go to bed early. Such a habit is to be condemned. It is detrimental to his health.Children who keep irregular hours usually have bad dispositions. They are ill-tempered. They whine and cry for anything and everything. They get cross and are ill-tempered, not because of a really bad disposition, perhaps, but because they just do not get sufficient sleep. They are not rested and, of course, are disagreeable.Too much play is as dangerous as too little sleep. Children who have played excessively are apt to be restless when they are put to bed. In consequence they are unable to sleep. They have played so hard, they are all worn out as a result of their excessive fatigue.
They become stimulated to such an extent that they cannot sleep.

No doubt you have undergone membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)CREOMULSION all of which should be engaged with calmness and composure.

events will depend greatly upon
their own pose, self-restraint and
wise management of circumstances.

recall being so tired you could not sleep?The day for the child should be planned in such a way that there is time for play, as well as time set aside for rest. When such a routine is kept the child will have an appetite, eat his food and digest it. He will put on weight, grow and develop, as the normal child should.It is well to remember that after the last meal of the day young children should not be permitted to ramp boisterously. If play is permitted, it should be mild in its na-should be maintained. All undue excitement should be avoided as much as possible.For young children, as well as older ones and adults, too, it is a good plan to darken the sleeping

The radio should not be going full

Fat Men

I don't care how fat you are or how much you hate to get out and walk a couple of miles. If you will take one half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning for 4 weeks and cut out pastries, sugar and fatty meats—You will feel so good—so energetic and the urge for activity will be so great that you will immensely enjoy a daily walk of several miles—and lose fat.

While you are losing fat you will be gaining in energy—in endurance—in ambition. Your skin will grow clearer and your eyes will sparkle with the good health that Kruschen brings.

Just try one 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts; it will last you 4 weeks. After you have taken one bottle the old arm chair won't hold you any more—you'll want to be up and doing—you'll enjoy work—you will sleep like a top—and probably live years longer. Get Kruschen at any live druggist in America with the understanding that you must be joyfully satisfied or money back.

W. R. Daniels of Richmond Hill, N. Y., writes: "After 2 bottles of Kruschen, I've removed 2 inches from my belt, feel 25 per cent more active, mind is clearer, eruptions have disappeared. Am 45 years old and feel 20 years younger. I get up feeling 100 per cent. Kruschen sure is great."

help. A few close friends were let in on the secret. Some of them will help him this afternoon to hand out a thousand sandwiches and as many cups of coffee—that will be the initial supply, but more will be rushed to the scene if necessary.

Mr. Glad had intended to give away a thousand gloves, also, but he decided to reserve them for later distribution because of the prevailing mild weather.

Last winter he advertised a Broadway address, where his identity was carefully guarded, and asked people to send their old gloves. Many sent white kid. Now he buys them himself and is sure they are warm.

Tells Own Story

With each nickel or each sandwich, Mr. Glad hands out a little slip of paper telling enough of his own story to encourage those who are down. The slip also tells them to "cheer up, brother. Every cloud has a silver lining. Keep up your nerve and everything will come out all right."

The men who get them, keep them. Mr. Glad has yet to see one thrown upon the sidewalk.

People talk about Mr. Glad, even to him, and don't know he is the person.

injured 10 days ago when their team lost to Barborton, will be back in the lineup to oppose the Quakers. Here's the way the Alliance mentor sized up the situation:

"The teams will start the game at scratch, everything even. We don't believe Salem has any big edge on us and I can't see why Alliance should be ranked ahead of Salem. It should be a great game, a typical salem-Alliance classic, between two strong, evenly matched eleven."

And Stone says:

"My boys aren't in the best shape and I'm unable to say that we'll beat Alliance. In fact, they may beat us by two touchdowns. We'll be in their fighting."

Here are the probable lineups:

Salem Pos Alliance

Erwin Beck ... RE ... Johnston

CHAPTER XXX

When Fanchon awoke it was to find herself in a strange place. A woman sat beside her. A woman in white, with a pleasant, intent face. The woman's fingers lay lightly on her wrist.

"Collin?" whispered Fanchon. The woman said, smiling: "You are not to talk. But I am to tell you that everything is all right. You are to take this, and sleep. And when you wake you may see Mrs. Carstairs."

Fanchon turned on her side. Presently she slept. Later, she was to learn that she had been ill for ten days, with a complete nervous breakdown and shock. And that she had run a high temperature, had been delirious, had wept and begged for forgiveness, had called out for Collin. For Collin. And that he had been with her, his hand on hers, the only touch that could steady her back to sanity.

They saw her, and she them, after that, but it was many days before they were permitted to talk to her. Her mind clear again, her body struggling back to life and weak as a baby's, she would lie in bed and watch for them to come. For Jennie, who would sit beside her, her hand on hers and smile, and speak softly, reassuringly, for Collin would sit there also, and hold her hands fast and let his eyes tell her that, miraculously, he loved her.

But finally the day came when Jennie was permitted to talk. "You need have no fear," she said. "He—the man—died instantly. The bullet did not reach him. He missed his footing and fell. It was the fall that killed him. There was a seven days' wonder when it was revealed by police and press that 'Cesare Gill' was the notorious Antonio Francesconi. There is a reward. Yours," she said. "Your old knowledge of him is known to no one but us."

"Collin?" whispered Fanchon. The woman said, smiling: "You are not to talk. But I am to tell you that everything is all right. You are to take this, and sleep. And when you wake you may see Mrs. Carstairs."

Fanchon turned on her side. Presently she slept. Later, she was to learn that she had been ill for ten days, with a complete nervous breakdown and shock. And that she had run a high temperature, had been delirious, had wept and begged for forgiveness, had called out for Collin. For Collin. And that he had been with her, his hand on hers, the only touch that could steady her back to sanity.

They saw her, and she them, after that, but it was many days before they were permitted to talk to her. Her mind clear again, her body struggling back to life and weak as a baby's, she would lie in bed and watch for them to come. For Jennie, who would sit beside her, her hand on hers and smile, and speak softly, reassuringly, for Collin would sit there also, and hold her hands fast and let his eyes tell her that, miraculously, he loved her.

But finally the day came when Jennie was permitted to talk. "You need have no fear," she said. "He—the man—died instantly. The bullet did not reach him. He missed his footing and fell. It was the fall that killed him. There was a seven days' wonder when it was revealed by police and press that 'Cesare Gill' was the notorious Antonio Francesconi. There is a reward. Yours," she said. "Your old knowledge of him is known to no one but us."

Fanchon shuddered, and lifted her thin hand. "No—no," she whispered. "I understand. Claim it, for charity, then," said Jennie, "and after you are better we are taking you South. And then to France, where you will get back your strength, quickly...."

The tears poured down Fanchon's face. Tears of weakness. She said, brokenly: "But I have no right—"

"Have you not? Do you—care anything about me, Fanchon?" asked Jennie Carstairs.

Fanchon turned her lips to the quiet hand that lay there on the bed. She whispered: "You know. It was real. Everything was real....but....the name...."

"Never mind that....Do you love Collin, Fanchon?"

"With all my heart," she said. "Then haven't you—every right?" asked Jennie.

The nurse came in. "No more today," she said warningly, and obediently Jennie rose. She looked down on the small white face, so very white against the dark curls on the pillow. She said: "You're not to worry. You—belong to us."

As soon as she could be moved safely Fanchon was taken South. To a quiet little place in Florida, to a small lonely house, set among the palms. Miss Gibbon, the nurse, went with her, and Jennie, and Collin; and some of the servants. And it was all dreamlike. And slowly her strength came back.

"We can sail in two weeks," Collin told her one evening. "The doctor says we may."

She looked up at the great stars and the slender scimitar of the moon. There was a little Gulf wind in the palm trees. She heard the sound of water.

"Collin?" she said desperately. "What is it, darling?"

"I—I—"

"No, don't say it. Whatever it is, I love you. We will be married before we sail, very quietly."

She said, "Collin you can't.... people—what will people say?"

"Does that matter? We are going to live abroad for a long time. Mother is willing. She is homesick for France, I think, and England. Her heart has been there, for a long time. Perhaps people will wonder."

every way that matters most I belong to you," she said.

He took her into his arms and kissed her....

After a while Jennie came out to them and they sat there together planning their allied future. Fanchon closed her eyes against the brightness of the stars.... To belong.... forever. To Collin. To have the mother she had always longed for. Poor Tony, she thought dreamily, pity for him weeping up in her heart—and poor Evelyn.

But they were dead. And she was, gloriously, alive.

HOOSIERS GIVEN EDGE IN SERIES AT STAGG FIELD

Indiana Favored to Win Tournament; Injuries Hit Ohio State

By WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—If the handicappers have the situation figured correctly, Indiana's Hoosiers are a cinch to win the Big Ten's charity round robin football tournament tomorrow at Stagg field.

Chicago to Win Opener
Chicago and Iowa will meet in the first two period match, and on the basis of previous accomplishment, the Maroons should win. Chicago has managed to score at least one touchdown in each of its five conference games this season, while the Hawkeyes have failed to cross an opposition goal line in league competition.

Illinois, mauled six times by Big Ten opponents, does not appear to have much chance to beat Indiana. The Hoosiers have won one conference contest, but have as the high spot of their season, the distinction of holding Northwestern to a 7 to 6 margin.

If the dope is correct thus far, Indiana and Chicago will tangle in the playoff 29-minute game, and the Hoosiers again have the edge.

Purdue suffered a setback yesterday when it was learned that neither Dixie Moore, substitute halfback, nor Paul Calvert, end, will be able to play against Northwestern Saturday. Moore's wrenched knee has not responded to treatment and Calvert must undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Wisconsin Worries Kipke
Coach Harry Kipke is worrying about the Michigan squad's mental attitude toward its game for championship. He fears that a letdown will follow the victory over Minnesota and has used reserves frequently in trying to keep the regulars at the proper pitch. The Wisconsin squad, on the other hand, has shown more fire in drills this week, than at any other time of the season.

Ohio State probably will face Minnesota without Martin Varner, guard, and Mickey Vuchinich, fullback, who were injured in the Illinois contest. The Gophers will be without Brad Robinson, varsity end.

of Southern California are winning support also.

Clarence Munn of Minnesota tops the guards by a substantial margin with Johnny Baker (Northwestern), Nerdy Hoffman (Notre Dame) and "Red" Leathers of Georgia seeking the other post.

Just last Saturday Louis Laubscher, claimant to the world fancy shot pocket billiard championship, observed his sixty-fifth birthday, and four days later he was a victor at the billiard room of Quaker City Aerie No. 316, Fraternal Order of Eagles, giving an exhibition of his prowess with the cue.

"Lou" is still as adept as the next fellow in the ancient pastime of pool and showed his eagle's eye in one of the most spectacular shots ever witnessed at the F. O. E. hall. There were plenty of witnesses to the feat, which follows:

The cue and object balls were placed on a billiard table, with two balls, two inches apart, in another room, 61 feet away. To get to the two balls in the other room, the cue ball would be forced to travel through two doors, in a straight line.

What followed was this: Lou crashed the cue ball into the object ball, jumping it from the table onto the concrete floor. It bounced along through the two doors, and suddenly, when it seemed just about to miss the two balls, took a short curve for a perfect carom.

Witnesses: J. W. Hundertmark, John S. Souda, Wallace Sheehan, John Mack and several others.

ance at Reilly athletic stadium Thursday morning.

A throng of more than 7,000 spectators, good weather permitting, is anticipated by Salem school officials. Special accommodations are being made to provide space for the overflow crowd expected.

The game will start at 9:30 with Eddie Howell of Sebring, Davey Williams of Girard and O. S. Ellis of Youngtown as officials.

Close Battle Expected
With both teams evenly matched, a close, hard-fought battle is anticipated. Confidence that his team will be the victor has been expressed by each of the rival coaches, Floyd W. Stone of Salem and George Wilcoxen of Alliance, and as colorful a classic as has ever been played between the two schools will probably be the result.

Alliance will bring a hard-plunging backfield and a powerful and heavy defense to combat the fast, running offensive attack that has brought the Quakers through a schedule of nine hard games with but one reverse. The Aviators, gaining power as the season progressed, expect to reach their peak in strength tomorrow and register their seventh victory of the season.

Lineups Doubtful
What his starting lineup would be was a matter of grave doubt to Stone Tuesday afternoon as his lads gathered for their last regular practice session of the 1931 season while Wilcoxen too was not able, for a certainty, to announce any starting eleven. Both coaches regard the battle as one of the most important of the grid season and hope to use their strongest possible lineups in the fray.

In 32 previous games the Quakers have vanquished the opposition 14 times and in turn have sustained defeat the same number of times. Four exciting contests have resulted in no decisions and tomorrow's Turkey day fracas is scheduled to break this 14-14 tie.

It would not be good logic to predict victory for either team. There is no distinct pre-game favorite, although, on the face of the past performances and a comparison of offensive power, the Quakers are conceded a slight edge.

The hand of fortune, bringing into the fracas the unforeseen and unexpected, and the ability of the eleven to take advantage of breaks may make or break one of the teams.

Loss Only Two Games
At the start of practices this year Coach Wilcoxen looked to an imposing nucleus of veteran stars to bring fame to the Alliance school. The season has been a satisfactory one to the Aviators; their team reached its greatest strength in defeating Akron East, an eleven hitherto undefeated in 25 starts, and was stalked by defeat only twice, against Niles and Barberton.

Among the strongest of Wilcoxen's ball carriers is Larry Russell, a junior giant who will, after this year, return for another season of football competition. Russell, together with Captain Ed Beck and his teammates while the Quakers cannot forget Quinlan and Farmer, two fine ball carriers and blockers of extraordinary abilities.

Line Averages 180 Pounds
On the line Wilcoxen has three lads of more than 200 pounds while the forward wall will average almost 180, avoidpoids. There are two speedy and shifty ends in Maxwell and Johnston, a great tackle and guard in Fugh and Wiegand, and strong defensive linemen in Rowland, Stump and Anderson.

No radical changes are expected in the Stone's lineup although the Red and Black mentor insists that he himself will not know until game time what 11 lads will be given the selection for starting posts. He will very likely toss the same quartet composed of Beck, Carpenter, French and Keyes into ball-carrying responsibilities.

The line will place Erwin Beck and Purn Sidinger at ends; Ed Raymond and Norman Early at tackles, Loren Battin and Wayne Sidinger at guards, with Willie Cerno at center.

Cleveland Lesson Helps

"They say California is virgin territory, hasn't had a heavy weight championship fight in many years, and they think this an advantage, don't they? Well, I'm going to tell you this: Virgin territory is the worst territory in the world for the promotion of a heavyweight title fight. We learned that at Cleveland last summer when Schmeling fought Stribling.

"Heavyweight title fights can be traced only where there are fight fans, not just people who might be interested in a spectacle. As Mr. Carey paused to think he was asked what Schmeling and Walker would fight then if they have to fight anywhere.

May Meet at Miami

"Miami," said Mr. Carey, "There is wealth there. The wealthy men who patronize Madison Square Garden all season go there for their holidays. They'll come to the fight and buy ringside seats.

"And another thing, if Jack Dempsey fights this winter or any other time, remember this. He will fight for Madison Square Garden just as he did in the days of Tex Rickard."

THEATER Attractions

"TOUCHDOWN", a football story of an entirely different plot than the usual run of such college stories will be the feature attraction today and tomorrow at the State theater.

"Touchdown" is grand and glorious All-American entertainment; as indigenous as the Thanksgiving turkey—and every bit as exciting as the plum pudding.

Richard Arlen, Peggy Shannon, Regis Toomey, Charles Starrett, Jack Oakie are the stars, with Roy Reigles, Jim Thorpe and Tom Lieb and a host of other football stars appearing.

The story is effective for a good many reasons—but the best one that occurs is the ending. It reminds us of no other football summary that was ever unfolded upon the silver screen; for the home team, the team coached by Richard Arlen, and the one which we have been rooting for all through the action, does NOT win the final game. In fact, the team loses decisively against a superior gridiron foe.

Set in a background of grand drama—the Civil War days when thousands of spies filtered through opposing lines—"SECRET SERVICE" opens at the Grand theater with Richard Dix in another glamorous role.

Dix, who set the fashion in virile drama with "Cimarron," and again with "Young Donovan's Kid," will be seen as the adventure-loving Union spy who volunteers to join with death in an heroic effort to stem the Confederate advance.

A romance in old Virginia with a daughter of a Southern general, the constant menace of discovery, suspicion, tragedy and a dramatic conclusion feature this film based on the world famous play by William Gillette.

gle track" narrow brick road has outlived its usefulness, it is proposed to remove this narrow brick road and to reconstruct this road on a traffic bound basis or type, and then leave it until such a time as the state is financially able to place a better type of surface on it.

As a further proposal, and as a state and county proposition, and if the county can participate in the widening and resurfacing, it has been agreed to widen, reconstruct and resurface that part of State Route No. 7, or the East Liverpool-Wellsville-Stonewille road from a point at or near the intersection of Clark avenue and 23th street, Wellsville, to the Columbiana-Jefferson county line, a distance of approximately 2,650 feet or one-half mile. This latter proposition, however, is only in its embryonic stages, as there are numerous details and numerous legal entanglements to be straightened out.

Jefferson County Ready

This proposition means that after the Clark avenue improvement is completed in Wellsville, there will remain one-half mile to be built to join with the Jefferson county section of this No. 7 route. Jefferson county is prepared to go ahead with its improvement to the Columbiana county line as soon as Columbiana county is ready to build to the Jefferson county line.

Nordics conclude to their regret, that the process should continue as long as necessary. But now no more massacring. Simply say to the inferior, undesired race, "No more of such a vitamin for you people; hereafter enjoy yourselves while you may, for soon you will be done. Don't repine. Probably your souls will come back in improved Nordic bodies."

YOU ADMIRE nature's marvels more than ever, when you read the solemn German savant's statement that three billionths of a gram of vitamin D will cure a child of rickets. That is more wonderful than California's giant redwood trees. Nevertheless, you should come and see those trees that were old trees when Jezebel was torn by the dogs.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists. 15c, 30c and 60c. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like.

LET US GIVE THANKS

If the Pilgrim fathers three centuries ago, having only a precarious foothold upon the edge of a vast wilderness, with nothing but hardship and danger upon every hand, felt they still had enough to be thankful for to set aside a day of Thanksgiving, surely we with our innumerable blessings and comforts can well be thankful.

So let us give thanks for the things we have had and still have, and for the future which this land offers all those who have the faith to fight and the courage to carry on.
